

OrtaMiklos, Mother's Ship with 4400 Chairs, 2021. Courtesy of Friedman Benda and OrtaMiklos. Photography by Mounir Hammoui

THE ENDLESS SUMMER FEB 19 – MAR 26 2022

“Summer means a great many things to different people...”
- From the film The Endless Summer

Los Angeles – albertz benda and Friedman Benda are pleased to present The Endless Summer, which marks the first public exhibition at the galleries' Los Angeles space. Highlighting new explorations from established and emerging voices at the forefront of their fields, The Endless Summer references the title of the seminal surf documentary from 1966 and channels similar themes of commitment to storytelling and dedication to one's craft.

Concurrent to his solo exhibition at the Carnegie Museum of Art, the exhibition highlights a new piece from Sharif Bey's Necklace series, in which he reappropriates and recontextualizes this imagery to challenge the cultural mainstream.

A continuation of his Objects for Living II series, the installation unveils a 6ft tall sculpture by multidisciplinary artist Daniel Arsham.

Following his first US solo show at the gallery and acclaimed exhibition at the ICA in Milan, the setting will premiere a chandelier from influential London-based designer Michael Anastassiades' seminal Mobile Chandelier series.

The Endless Summer marks the public debut of a monumental dining table set in brightly colored hues with exuberant curves by OrtaMiklos in celebration of the creative duo's solo show on view in NY from February 24th to March 19th.

Another centerpiece of the presentation will be a new work by Cleon Peterson, known for his stark, monochromatic figures that explore tensions between the individual and society at large in advance of his first solo show at the gallery opening in March.

In anticipation of Jake Clark's solo show in September 2022 in LA, the Australian ceramist will debut a new series that reflects on iconic Los Angeles establishments. The setting will be completed by the iteration of Ini Archibong's Switch table series inspired by Dr. Dre and by his experience growing up in Pasadena surrounded by low-rider car culture.

The exhibition also marks the first collaboration with Los Angeles based artist Angela Anh Nguyen known for her tufted rugs informed by her personal experience of being a child of parents of the Vietnamese diaspora.

albertz benda

FRIEDMAN BENDA

All artists and designers on view include:

Michael Anastassiades
Daniel Arsham
Ini Archibong
Sharif Bey
Timothy Curtis
Estudio Campana
Jake Clark
Carmen D'Apollonio

Devon DeJardin
Najla El Zein
gt2P
Misha Kahn
Kay Kurt
Joris Laarman
Fernando Laposse
Christopher Le Brun

Famakan Magassa
Tony Marsh
Angela Anh Nguyen
OrtaMiklos
Felipe Pantone
Cleon Peterson
Kelly Reemtsen

Samuel Ross
Chris Schanck
Snarkitecture
Faye Toogood
Marcel Wanders
Thaddeus Wolfe
Barbora Žilinskaitė

About

Friedman Benda and albertz benda opened their new permanent space in November 2021 situated on Marmont Lane in West Hollywood, Los Angeles. Realized within the context of a domestic setting, the space will be a platform for the visual arts, craft and design. Featuring an evolving identity separate from the respective New York gallery programs, the gallery was conceived to advance new connections while cultivating greater dialogue between both galleries' established and diverse rosters.

###

Open Tues-Sat, 10am - 6pm:
8260 Marmont Lane
Los Angeles, CA 90069
marmont@albertzbenda.com

Contact:
Kate Vogel
kate@friedmanbenda.com
T: +1 (212) 239-8700

Contact:
Charles Hickey
charles@albertzbenda.com
T: +1 310-913-3269

Felipe Pantone, CHROMADYNAMICA MANIPULABLE 22, 2021. Courtesy albertz benda, New York.